

So what will happen at after your operation?

When you go home, you will be given lots of yummy medicine to help make your throat feel better. It is very important to eat after your operation. The more you eat the better it will get and that includes biscuits crisps and toast. After two weeks off school your throat will be back to normal and hopefully no more horrible sore throats again!!

I am having my tonsils out.....!

With Mr Benjamin
My
Ear, Nose & Throat Surgeon

A little while ago you went to see Mr Benjamin, the Ear, Nose and Throat doctor who told you that, to stop getting all those horrible sore throats he was going to take your tonsils out!!

So what will happen at my operation?

When you come into hospital, you will be seen by Mr Benjamin who will explain to you again all about your operation and answer any questions that you might have. You will be seen by the anaesthetist. This is the clever doctor who makes you go fast asleep for the operation and then wakes you up when it's all finished.

What are tonsils?

Tonsils are these two round meat balls that sit at the back of your throat. Sometimes they can get all horrible and infected, which gives you a very sore throat, which you often have to take lots of medicine to get you better.

They are meant to help fight and get rid of bugs but if they are not working any more then you are better off having them out. You have lots and lots of other bits in your body to help fight bugs in the future

You will then maybe get a ride on a special trolley to the room where you will go to sleep. Mummy or Daddy will be able to stay with you until you fall asleep.

Then while you are fast asleep, Mr Benjamin will take your tonsils out (with some special tools).

After the operation you will have a little bit of a sore throat, but you will be given some yummy medicine to make it feel all better.

You might have to stay in hospital over night (Mummy or Daddy can stay with you.)
